High-value transactions	37 transactions above $10,000	Medium
International activity	4 transactions outside historical profile	Medium

Rapid transaction pattern	2 short-interval activity clusters	Medium

6. Compliance and Monitoring Guidelines

Transactions exceeding $10,000 should be subject to enhanced monitoring according to the organization's internal financial-risk policy. Transactions with unusual country combinations, rapid repeated transfers, or significant deviations from historical customer behavior should be reviewed before the customer relationship is classified as low risk.

For transactions that appear suspicious, the compliance team should record the transaction reference, customer identifier, transaction amount, currency, merchant or counterparty, country, timestamp, and reason for review. Audit records should be retained according to the organization's applicable retention policy.
